Nach den einzelnen Kombinationstypen aufgeschlüsselt, ergibt sich:

1. Ca = Si = Sch:	308 Fälle, d.h. 41.8%
2. (Ca = Si) ≠ Sch:	32 Fälle, d.h. 4.3%
3. (Ca = Sch) ≠ Si:	43 Fälle, d.h. 5.8%
4. Ca ≠ (Si = Sch):	203 Fälle, d.h. 27.6%
5. Ca ≠ Si ≠ Sch:	150 Fälle, d.h. 20.4%
Total:	736 Fälle

In 308 Fällen geht also Casis sowohl mit Sils als auch mit Scharans, in weiteren 75 Fällen entweder mit Sils oder mit Scharans. Casis und Sils i.D./Scharans stimmen somit in total 383 von 736 Fällen bzw. in 52.0% aller Fälle überein.

Damit sind wir nun in der Lage, aufgrund der (phonetischen und morphologischen) Übereinstimmungen der verglichenen Reflexe zwischen den einzelnen Ortsmundarten die folgende „Distanz-Empathie-Hierarchie“ von Sils i.D. aufzustellen. Der Ausdruck „a > b“ bedeutet hier, daß a mehr (phonetische und morphologische) Übereinstimmungen mit der Mundart von Sils i.D. aufweist als B:

Anz. Refl.	742	>	740	>	736	>	721	>	711	>	696
Ortsma.	Scharans > Rodels > Cazis > Zillis > Obervaz > Flerden

Wenn man von der zwar etwas vulgären, aber verbreiteten Ansicht ausgeht, daß bei Mundarten und Sprachen ihre paarweise Verschiedenheit mit zunehmender geographischer Entfernung steigt, dann muß unser in der obigen Hierarchie dargelegtes Ergebnis überraschen: Sils ist (trotz der jahrhundertelangen engsten Beziehungen zum Heinzenberg über die Rheinbrücke) eine klare Domleschger und keine Unterheinzenberger Mundart und steht der Mundart von Scharans am nächsten. Sie steht sogar der entfernteren Mundart von Rodels näher als derjenigen von Cazis, obwohl das dortige Kloster gewiss eine starke kulturelle Ausstrahlung hatte. Sils geht somit erst an dritter Stelle mit Cazis und damit dem unteren Heinzenberg und steht sogar den weit entfernten und durch geographische Schranken getrennten Mundarten von Zillis näher als derjenigen von Flerden, obwohl Sils ja durch die Rheinbrücke mit Thusis und von Thusis aus durch die Weiterführung der Straße auch mit dem oberen inneren Heinzenberg verbunden ist. Daraus nun, daß Sils in unserer Hierarchie am wenigsten Ähnlichkeit mit Flerden hat, darf man schließen, daß die ausgestorbene romanische Mundart von Thusis von derjenigen des gleich auf der anderen Seite des Hinterrheins gelegenen Sils völlig verschieden war. Daß Sils sogar stärker mit dem äußeren Domleschg als mit dem unteren Heinzenberg geht, läßt einen ferner mit hoher Wahrscheinlichkeit schließen, daß in Thusis keineswegs die gleiche Mundart wie in dem nur wenige Kilometer nördlich von ihm gelegen Cazis gesprochen wurde. Obwohl man natürlich nicht ausschließen kann, daß Thusis einst eine eigene Ortsmundart besaß, liegt doch aus unseren Vergleichen der Schluß nahe, daß in Thusis eine ähnliche innere Oberheinzenberger Mundart gesprochen wurde wie in Masein, Urmein und Flerden. Im folgenden Ausschnitt aus der Michelin-Karte sind Scharans, Rodels und Cazis als den drei Sils am nächsten stehenden Mundarten mit 1, 2 und 3 markiert.

Da es in Thuisis kaum mehr romanische Ortsnamen gibt<sup>1</sup> und die wenigen erhalten gebliebenen jedenfalls keine Rückschlüsse auf die einstige Mundart von Thuisis ziehen lassen, wird deren nähere Eingrenzung kaum möglich sein.
